DEATHS AND FUNERALS

Lower Death Rate During Past Twenty-Four Hours—Four Die in City and Bodies of Two Who Died Elsewhere Brought Here.

John T Haring, seventy-six years old, who lived at 102 South Alfred street, died Tuesday night at Berkley Springs, W. Va., where he had been spending the summer. The deceased was first taken ill with influenza. Afterward he sustained a stroke of paralysis which caused his death. He is survived by his wife who was with him at the time.

Mr. Haring was a native of Fairfax county and in his younger days was engaged in the farming business. He had lived here most of his life. The body was brought here and taken to Demaine's chapel and his funeral took place at 4 o'clock this afternoon from Trinity M. E. Church and was private. Services were conducted by Rev. A. E. Speilman, pastor.

Mrs Mary Warnock Reynolds, wife of Norman L. Reynolds, who lived at 128 South Royal street, died early this morning at the temporary hospital in the Westminister building. Death was due to pneumonia. Besides her husband she is survived by a little son.

The funeral of Mrs. Norman Reynolds will take place at 4 o'clock Saturday afternoon from Wheatley's chapel.

Mrs. Bertha Johnson, a former resident, died in Philadelphia and her funeral took place this afternoon from the residence of Peter Hall, 424 North Peyton street.

Mrs. Maggie Ale, wife of Walter Ale, died shortly after 6 o'clock this morning at her residence, 331 North Pitt street of influenza. Besides her husband she leaves four children.

Mrs. Martha Ann Hall, seventy-eight years old, wife of George Hall, died yesterday at her residence, 329 North Henry street. Her funeral will take place at 2 o'clock tomorrow afternoon.

William Allen infant son of Mr. and Mrs. Stewart L. Bayliss, died at the home of his parents on Wednesday.

Richard H. Roland, three years old, son of Grover Roland, died yesterday at the temporary hospital in the Westminister building. The body was taken to the residence of his uncle Charles H. Roland, 415 South Washington street and prepared for burial.

Funeral services for Mrs. T. Morgan Moore will be held at 5 o'clock tomorrow afternoon at her late residence 509 1-2 South Fairfax street.

The funeral of Harvey Simpson will take place at 4 o'clock Sunday afternoon from his late residence, 614 South Patrick street.

DEATHS

SIMPSON—On Tuesday, October 15, 1918, shortly before 10 p. m., at his residence, 614 South Patrick street, HARVEY SIMPSON, beloved husband of Katie Simpson, in his 48th year. Funeral services Sunday, October 20, 1918, at 4 p. m. Friends invited.

REYNOLDS—At the Westminister Building Hospital, 5:45 a m., Thursday, October 17, 1918, MARY V. REYNOLDS, wife of Norman L. Reynolds, age 24 years. Funeral from Wheatley's chapel, Saturday, October 19, at 4 p. m. Loudoun and Washington papers please copy.

DEATH RATE IS LOWER

Influenza Situation Slightly Improved—Thirty-Four Patients in Westminster Building—Christ Church Parish Hall Abandoned as Temporary Hospital.

The "flu" situation here today appears to be slightly improved if the death rate can be taken as a criterion. There were only four deaths in the city during the past twenty-four hours as a result of the epidemic. Notwithstanding this a number of additional cases were reported in different parts of the city and many of the persons ill with the disease are reported to be in a serious condition.

Thirty-five patients are now being treated for influenza and pneumonia in the Westminster building which has been converted into a temporary hospital.

The use of Christ Episcopal Church parish hall as a temporary hospital has been abandoned and all of the patients are now in the Westminster building.

A corps of Rer Cross nurses all of whom are volunteers, is looking after the patients. The lower floor of the building is used for women and the upper floor is equipped for men.

All of those who were assisting in the work of caring for the patients in Christ Church parish hall are now working with the force at the Westminster building and as a result of the consolidation far better results are being obtained as the entire force is now working under the one roof.

ARE NEARING THE GOAL

Liberty Loan Sales Highly Gratifying Three Banks Report $607,000 Disposed of—Believed City Will Go "Over the Top" Today.

Up to noon today three out of the four Alexandria banks had sold Liberty Bonds amounting to $607,000. This is sufficient proof that this city will go considerably "over the top."

This will be a splendid showing for this city. Alexandria always has gone forward in the previous Liberty Loan drives and this is no exception to the rule. When the total figures are counted up next week it is believed that Alexandria will be far in excess of her allotment.

All of the banks of the city today reported a rushing business in the sale of bonds and all have arranged to keep open evenings this week for the accommodation of those unable to call during the day.

The Citizens' National Bank today "went over the top" when its sales totaled $257,000 which is $13,600 over its allotment, the allotment being $243,400.

The Alexandria National Bank has subscribed $100,000 to the loan. In addition this bank already has sold bonds considerably in excess of $60,000 and today reported a big rush on the part of purchasers of bonds.

All of the banks will be open from 7 until 9 o'clock each evening beginning this evening for the accommodation of those who are unable to call during the day and purchase bonds.

As will be seen by a notice elsewhere the Alexandria National Bank on Saturday will be open from 5 until 9 p. m. and tonight and tomorrow night from 7 until 9 p. m.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to express our sincere thanks for the beautiful floral tributes sent by friends at the death of our beloved father and brother Karl Fuchs.

By his daughter and sister.

RIOTS IN PUBLIC STREETS

Troops Armed With Hand Grenades and Machine Guns Seek to Dispel Rioters.

London, Oct. 17.—A dispatch to the Central News from Amsterdam says that in Prague the streets from the suburbs to the city proper are occupied by troops armed with hand grenades and machine guns in consequence of a threat by the Czechs to call a general strike throughout Bohemia.

The dispatch adds that pamphlets have been circulated declaring that a Czech republic will be proclaimed shortly.

A revolution has broken out at Constantinople against the Young Turks the Daily Express learns from its Geneva correspondent. The Germans have sent twenty battleships from the Black Sea to protect Enver Pasha, their "strong man" in Turkey.

AUTHORITIES SWAMPED

Flu Ravages Are Hampering Progress and Killing Efficiency.

Feeling that desperate remedies are needed for the influenza situation in Washington, John A. McIlheny, president of the Civil Service Commission, General Blue of the Public Health Service, and Commissioner Brownlow, yesterday united in a letter to all heads of departments urging that no more war workers be allowed to come to Washington.

All agreed that the situation was becoming intolerable, and that the public health demanded an immediate cessation of immigration. Commissioner McIlhenny said that the commission has no power to prevent clerks from coming into the city but it can exert moral suasion.

"Conditions in the boarding houses hotels and apartments of the city are intolerable," said Gen. Blue, "and they should not be aggravated." It was pointed that Washington might be quarantined, but this would interfere with nscessary requisitions of men for the War Department, it was claimed No man or woman not directly needed in this department should be allowed to come to the city just now it was declared.

Secretary Lane of the Interior Department, and Secretary McAdoo of the Treasury, it is understood, have agreed to adopt a policy of taking no new clerks until the crisis is past. It is understood that other departments will act in similar manner.

One of the unfortunate concomitants of the housing and food situation in Washington, according to an officer in the Civil Service Commission yesterday is that clerks pay all their money for rooms and have none left for the necessary and nourishing food.

"Some of the clerks in this office died because they had not been sufficiently well fed." said the officer referred to. "They were paying outrageous prices for room rents, and by the time they had discharged these bills they had not enough left for nourishing food. The landlords appeared to have gotten the greater part of their earnings."

NOTICE.

The Alexandria National Bank, King and Royal streets, will be open this evening and tomorrow evening from 7 until 9 p. m. and Saturday from 5 until 9 p. m. in order to accommodate all persons desiring to purchase Liberty Loans. A cordial invitation is extended by this bank to all persons desiring to purchase bonds to call and make their arrangements.

SEVERAL REASONS WHY

City Official Contributes by Request Appeal to Patriotism While Shades of Mason and Washington Hover Over us.

(By Charles H. Callahan.)

In a recent issue of a Washington daily paper the opinion was advanced that the wireless sent out from Berlin accepting President Wilson's terms of peace was the most important message in the history of the world. We could not agree to this claim in toto. Other messages sent in the distant past, and by slow process, loom up to claim recognition, bringing in their train events which can never be relegated to second place in the chronicle of this or any other nation. One in particular we would recall, which is of special interest to Virginians and particularly to the citizens of Alexandria and Fairfax County. In the spring of 1776 the Fifth and Last Convention, by which the Colony of Virginia had been governed since Dunmore dissolved the Burgesses in 1774, met in Williamsburg. Among the first acts of this heroic band was to declare for independence. No filibustering, no desultory debate characterized their deliberations. They got down to business from the start. Read business and unanimously—

"Resolved, That this colony is and of a right ought to be a free and independent state, absolved from all allegiance to the Crown and Parliament of Great Britain." And to clinch the matter, they further—

Resolved, That the delegates appointed to represent this Colony in the General Congress be and they are hereby instructed to propose to that respectable body, to declare these United Colonies free and indepenent states."

This led in sequence to the Declaration of Independence with its attendant blessings to humanity.

It was a simple message, drawn by provincials, in an old fashioned village. It was not flashed to the world by an electric spark, or borne on the wind as was the Teuton plea for peace. These marvelous agencies of intercourse and transmission were a century away in the future. No dramatic scene was staged, or romantic setting arranged for this most momentous act in the world's greatest political drama. A hardy courier receives the precious missive and is off on his perilous ride. Up through New Kent, Hanover, Caroline and Spottsylvania Counties to Fredericksburg, thence on through Stafford and Prince William to the crossing of the Occoquan at Old Colchester, thence by way of Alexandria to the ferry at Georgetown he pressed on and on, through Maryland and Delaware, to his journeys end at Independence Hall in Philadelphia. Perhaps this humble and forgotten rider did not know the nature of his mission, or, if he did, failed to grasp its tremendous import. He did not know it, maybe, that back behind him a farmer by the name of Mason was at that very moment penning a wonderful instrument destined to become in the course of time the basic law, the infallible rule and guide for the liberties of mankind the world over, or that the message he bore would inspire a genius to arouse, by force of reason and unanswerable logic, determined hope for equality and personal freedom in the breasts of millions yet unborn, that by its influence England would change to a democracy from a republic, sceptres would become impotent in the hands of Kings, crowns totter and empires fall, when the great truths enunciated in Mason's bill of rights and Jefferson's declaration became a verity by the unstained sword of Washington.

This, in our humble judgment, was the greatest profane message ever borne to the children of men when its influence and bearing on political institutions is considered, and to Alexandria it has a special significance. George Mason gave, not only to Virginia, but to America, the germ of our system of government. Alexandria was his home town, his market, his voting place. He was Judge of our Magisterial Court, member of our town council, our immortal representative in the conventions ad General Assembly. He gave the state its first constitution, designed its great seal and first of all wrote in our baic law freedom of speech and the press, religious liberty, universal suffrage, limited terms in office and other reforms of no less importance. Of Washington's connection with our town, the people are more familiar. Member of its town council from 1766 to the outbreak of the Revolution He surveyed our streets, established and endowed our first free school, founded our fire department, commanded our militia was Master of our Masonic Lodge Judge of our Court, our representative in the House of Burgesses and vestryman in our church. With this before us, appreciating the identity with this city of these illustrious patriots and co-workers in the founding of the republic, should we not feel as we have a right to feel, a special interest in our old city's fair name and by every act and word preserve unsullied her illustrious past by a faithful allegiance to and support of every patriotic undertaking. This war is now being fought and the world is now in chaos because the rights of man as vouchsafed in Mason's declaration have been set aside by an imperial autocrat and it seems to the writer that every Alexandrian should exert his utmost effort and use every means in his power without considering the cost to demonstrate his abiding love for the country as a whole and his devotion to present duty and unwavering confidence in the future of our town and nation by responding to the government's appeal to buy Liberty bonds It is our bounden duty to pawn our credit, deprive ourselves of luxuries and lend every dollar we can spare from business enterprises or home necessity to this righteous ad patriotic cause. Remember that failure to perform a possible duty in a crisis like this is a phase of treason and a Hunnish trait of character. Remember if you please, Lafayette, Firsden, De Grace, and Rochambeau and then think of the Hessians and buy Liberty Bonds.

OVER THE TOP

The Citizens National Bank with pleasure announces the sale of Fourth Liberty Loan Bonds amounting to $257,000.00 against an allotment of $243,400.00. We desire to express our appreciation of the liberal and prompt response of our patrons, and cordially invite you to help us increase the sales another $100,000. The bank will be open each evening this week from 7.00 to 9.00 p. m. for the sale of bonds.

Citizens National Bank.

There will be no extension of the Liberty loan subscription period past Saturday night, Secretary McAdoo stated emphatically today.

CAPTURE 4000 GERMANS

Troops of the First American Army Enter Grandpre—Progress Satisfactorily Notwithstanding Weather.

London, Oct. 17.—The British forces advanced to a total depth of eight miles yesterday, Field Marshal Haig announces. They captured 4,000 prisoners and 150 guns.

Comines, Menin, Werwiq Wevelghem, Heule, Cuerno and the northern portion of Courtrai are in British hands.

The Lys River was crossed between Armentieres and Menin.

The town of Haubourdin captured, with 300 prisoners, in a new advance between Douai and Lille. The British there have reached the line Carvin - Allennes-les-Marais.

Thorout, the important German base in Flanders, has been definitely captured, according to latest word from the front. The fall of Courtrai is reported to be imminent. Unofficial dispatches report the British in the suburbs of Lille.

Paris, Oct. 17.—The French troops advancing between the Retourne and Aisne rivers have taken the village of Acy-Romance, the war office announces. Progress continues, and the French are now less than a mile from Rethel, the big railway intersection, which is their immediate objective.

London, Oct. 17.—Troops of the American First army have captured Grandpre, according to word from the Argonne-Meuse front.

Grandpre, fourteen miles west of the Meuse and twenty-five miles northwest of Verdun, was one of the chief objectives in the American northward drive west of the river. It is an important railroad town on the Aire.

The Americans also crossed the Aire to the east of Grandpre, capturing La Husarde Farm, in the center of their advance. Progress continues satisfactorily despite the bad weather.

GERMAN REGIMENT REVOLTS

Wooden Statue of Kaiser is Torn Down and Burned by Cheering Mob.

London, Oct. 17.—"I am author itatively informed that Germany must make peace within a few days or face a revolution," telegraphs the Amsterdam correspondent of the Daily Express.

Already a miniature revolt is sweeping Germany. A mutiny has occurred at Aix-la-Chappelle, where a whole regiment rose against its officers. One captain was shot.

At the naval base of Wilhelmshaven socialists burned a wooden statue of the Kaiser while crowds looked on and cheered.

Riots have occurred in other German cities, the Kaiser and the crown prince being the objects of the fury of cheering crowds. The police refused to interfere.

The Amsterdam Stock Exchange was thrown into a panic this afternoon by a report that Germany was ready to surrender unconditionally.

CARD OF THANKS.

I desire to tender my sincere thanks to the firemen for their splendid work at the fire at my home yesterday and also to the doctor for his attention to the sick children who were in my house at the time and also to all others who gave assistance.

Thos. H. Currier, 1503 King street.

NOTICE

The First National Bank will be open Thursday, Friday and Saturday nights from 7 to 9 for the sale of Liberty Bonds.

ON TO BERLIN

Germany is flooding the world with rumors to the effect that peace is near, that the nation has capitulated, having accepted or being about to accept, the conditions of President Wilson's ultimatum.

The patriotic papers of the country are attempting to show the camouflage of all this. Germany realizes it is defeated, and is anxious to resort to any trick in order to split the allies or deceive them in order to gain time to "gather herself."

The Manufacturers' Record of Baltimore, one of the most patriotic periodicals of the land of the free and the home of the brave. In its serial of "war eagle" editorials scouts all peace rumors under present conditions and says:

On to Berlin!

Unconditional surrender.

Death to Germanism.

Death penalty for the world's blackest criminals.

Confiscation of Germany's fleet and merchant marine as partial payment for ships murdered by submarines.

The restoration in quantity or value of every dollar of material, or wealth in machines, in food, in railroads and in money looted from other countries and complete restoration or restitution by German labor of every house destroyed, of every field devastated, of every fruit tree cut down.

Confiscation of war bonds by Germany and its allies as partial payment for indemnities, which they must pay sufficient to cover every dollar expended by the Allies.

An indemnity to the family of every soldier murdered by Germany as he struggled in defense of civilization against barbarism, and likewise to every soldier wounded or invalided by disease.

Germany to be held in subjection by the armies of America and the Allies until these terms are completed to the final end.

To these broad statements many details may be added. These should include, for instance, the replacement by new ships built by Germany, ton for every ship murdered by the submarines, and until these ships have been built and turned over to the Allies Germany should not be permitted to build for itself a single ship.

If we should impose upon Germany any lighter punishment than is here indicated, we would be merely encouraging the people of that country to prepare for another war.

Civilization faces its most tremendous task and must now prove its right to exist. Is civilization equal to the call of God to punish crime by a nation of criminals as freely as it punishes crime of the individual assassin and rapist? If it halts and holds back and refuses to do its duty, then surely the nations of the world are not worthy of Almighty God's blessing and should perish from the earth.

The thirtieth verse of the eighth chapter of Deuteronomy reads:

"As the nations which the Lord destroyeth before your face, so shall ye perish; because ye would not be obedient unto the voice of the Lord your God."

On to Berlin and Death to Germanism.

GERMANY.

(An indictment of a nation on a postal card received from France, translated for the Manufacturers Record.)

The German, sinister, liar, devoid of honor, perjured by his signature, inventor of the "Scrap of Paper," cowardly aggressor of little neutral State, bombarder of unfortified towns, vile destroyer of cathedrals and historic monuments, plunderer, thief and incendiary, repulsive drunkard, despatcher and robber of wounded soldiers, assassin of children, of women and old men, shooter of priests, defiler of women and nuns, hateful mutilator of children and adults, crucifier of women and children, torpedoer of the Lusitania, the Arabic, the Ancona, of the City of the Ciotat, of the Persia and of defenseless ships, poisoner of wells and rivers, user of asphyxiating gas and liquid fire, cursed and abject race, the horror of the civilized world will give way in the end, engulfed in universal hatred, disgust and repulsion.

Oh, Allied Peoples! Champions of right and liberty, when the foul beast will be overcome, never forget his crimes; teach your children that in their turn they may teach theirs what this odious malefactor has done; what griefs, martyrdoms, sorrows, mourning, misery, shame and despair he has produced; teach them to scorn him, to keep him apart as a venomous beast, repulse everything belonging to him, that to the end of the centuries he may live in the scorn of honest folks.

PROGRESS OF THE FLU

Several deaths have occurred in Alexandria during the last twenty-four hours, mostly from the Spanish influenza, which is still raging here, although with perceptible abatement. All deaths reported, however, are not from this epidemic, some of our people who have recently passed away having been sufferers from chronic troubles before the advent of the prevailing malady. The epidemic, however, is still causing anxiety, and hundreds are housebound by it.

Every measure is being resorted to here and elsewhere in hopes of staying the progress of the scourge. Toothpicks are no longer in evidence in cafes in Washington, it being suggested by the health authorities that those generally regarded innocent contrivances are the bearers of disease.

Ninety deaths from influenza were reported at the health office of the District of Columbia in the twenty-four hours period ending at 9 o'clock last night.

Hun bullets, poison gas, liquid fire and shrapnel have not succeeded in killing as many Americans since the beginning of the war as the Spanish influenza germ has since September 14.

Men killed in action and those who have died of wounds total 13,645. For the week ending October 12 there have been 17,735 deaths from Spanish influenza and resultant pneumonia in the United States. In several cities the percentage of deaths in proportion to the population has risen to heights never before recorded.

FOCH'S COMMANDMENTS

General Foch some time ago issued Ten Commandments for the soldiers of France and her Allies. Here are two of them:

"Tell the truth squarely, face the music and take your punishment like a man; for a good soldier won't lie, he doesn't sulk and is no squealer.

"Be merciful to the women of your foe and shame them not, for you are a man; pity and shield the children in your captured territory, for you were once a helpless child."

These commandments were freely published when issued, but once again they are passing the round of the country, and now are being posted in conspicuous places at some of the cantonments. To read them one is struck with the measureless distance between the teaching of General Foch to his armies and the teachings of Germany to its armies. Heaven and Hell are not wider apart.

THE SPECTRE OF FAMINE

The Kaiser is credited with saying at the outbreak of the war that he would bring a dearth upon the globe unparalleled in history. He has been the cause of more distress upon this mundane sphere than any precipitated by predatory despots in ancient or modern times.

America is facing the shortest rations in her history. The demands of the world for food are increasing daily, and our faith is pledged to our allies and to neutral nations to feed them.

Every mile of victory in devastated France and Belgium adds its thousands of hungry mouths to be fed. With France and Belgium back under allied flags, and the Germans hurled behind the Rhine intrenchments, 10,000,000 more people become dependent on this country for their food.

Should peace come, where America is now feeding upwards of 40,000,000 of people, the burden of feeding nearly 180,000,000 of people will fall upon us, in addition to our own people at home and our soldiers abroad.

Grain food resources show a net loss from the 1917 production of 225,000,000 bushels of cereals and their substitutes. These figures are taken from the last report of the Department of Agriculture.

When the Germans are driven behind the Rhine, and the 10,000,000 of people, now behind the German lines both French and Belgian by nationalities are again reunited to their countries, America's burdens will be increased almost 25 per cent, which would increase the export food program to over 22,000,000 tons or approximately twice the exports of foods last year; and, with an added 180,000,000 people to feed, or about five times the number cared for last year.

America is the only hope of the greater part of Europe. Not until her first crop comes in can the old country do much to feed herself, and for many crops after that the yield will be small.

America is pledged to feed the world. America, too, must eat, and America must prepare to deny herself as she never denied herself before. The American government will ask it, and conditions will exact it.

THE DAY OF JUDGMENT

The German people can no longer blink the fact that their Day of Judgment has come. They stand overpowered at the bar of the world's Court of Justice, and sentence is about to be passed upon them. If they struggle it will be futile, and will only add to the severity of the judgment.

For a generation they have been bullying the world. They have rattled their saber in the ears of all mankind. Drunk with the power they found themselves possessed of when they conquered France and robbed it of money and territory, they have declared ever since, for the intimidation of the world and the suppression of any humane instincts that might have survived among themselves, that war is a great and glorious experience; that the only justification a nation had for existence was its ability to conquer other nations; that money in unlimited quantities and territory of vast extent would be the rewards of any war they should engage in; that war was, in the epigram of a Frenchman aimed at the Prussians, their national industry; that their power was a sufficient justification for their claims; that they were indifferent to the opinions of mankind and that their Government was superior to the moral law.

The inevitable result of this infernal proposition is the enormous increase of crime in Germany, not alone during the war but before it.

The German people went into this war for profit. It was to enrich itself with indemnities. It was to give them control of the trade of the world. It was to establish the hegemony of Germany over the earth, make German the universal language, the German Kaiser the universal power, and establish the public and private immorality of Germany throughout the world. For a generation the German people have fed themselves upon literature glorifying war, sanctifying brute force, intoxicating themselves with the notion of their own superiority.

And now they are prostrate. All they trusted in was the deadly weapon and they have failed with that. Even the Kreuz Zeitung admits that they have lost the war. They must lose Alsace-Lorraine to France, and West Prussia to the resuscitated Kingdom of Poland. Improverished as they are by war, they must pay for the brutal devastation they have committed in foreign countries. They will probably have to repudiate their domestic debt in order to meet their obligations to foreigners, until which time they will have to see Allied troops on their own soil.

It is an appalling vision. But the German nation has sinned on a colossal scale, and the penalties it will have to bear are proportioned to its guilt. The Day of Judgment has dawned.—Philadelphia Record.

FAKE PEACE RUMORS

Denial That Germany Had Capitulated Casts Damper Upon Reports

London, Oct. 17.—"Germany capitulates; Kaiser has abdicated."

Of the whirlwind of reports and rumors sweeping London yesterday evening, the above, sent by Reuter's Amsterdam correspondent, was the most sensational.

At the hour of cabling it remained unconfirmed.

The foreign office declined to comment on the report of Germany's surrender. But it did not deny it.

In the lobby of the house of commons the report of the Kaiser's abdication was considered authentic.

Reuter's dispatch was based, it later developed, upon a private bulletin to the Rotterdamsche Courant from Hamburg.

Soon afterward came an Exchange Telegraph dispatch from Amsterdam to this effect:

"Germany accepts all of President Wilson's conditions, provided the interests of the German people are safeguarded.

Then rumors began to come thick and fast, ranging from a coup d'etat by the Socialists to a bloody revolt in the empire.

Mysterious hints came from the Downing street district.

"A certain report," it was said, "is engaging the closest attention of officialdom."

Then as an indication that the German situation had reached a decisive stage the press began to discuss freely the naval guarantees which will be required; these, too, bore the earmarks of at least semiofficial authenticity. It was stated Germany must surrender all her U-boats and her entire fleet, and that Helgoland and Kiel must be occupied by the allies.

As for the guarantees on land, disarmament of all German forces outside the German frontiers, and allied occupation of cities like Metz and Cologne were prominently mentioned.

London, Oct. 17.—The German reply to President Wilson's latest note probably will be sent today according to news received here through diplomatic channels from Holland. It is expected that the reply will be an acceptance of President Wilson's terms with some stipulation to the effect that the interests of the German people must be respected.

London, Oct. 17.—The official Press Bureau is officially informed that the reports published yesterday afternoon to the effect that Germany has capitulated have no foundation in fact.

VIRGINIA NEWS

The influenza situation in Pulaski has improved within the last 48 hours. There has not only been a material reduction in the number of new cases reported, but in deaths. The stores were allowed to remain open Monday, but the order requiring the closing of churches, schools, theatres and all public gathering places has not been rescinded.

The influenza epidemic has paralyzed the Lynchburg retail trade, as the Board of Health closed all places, excepting drug stores, groceries and news stands, permitting them to open only between the hours of 10 a. m. and 4.30 p. m. All soda fountains have been closed, and the sale of bottled soda water has been prohibited.

Mr. and Mrs. W. B. Minnick, of Broadway near Harrisonburg, Sunday received a telegram which announced the death of their son, George Minnick, at McKeesport, Pa., on Monday morning at about 8 o'clock. Pneumonia was the cause of his death. Later in the day they received another telegram which contained the information that their daughter, Mrs. Russell Litten, had died at Keyser, W. Va., her death also occurring from pneumonia, which developed from attack of influenza.

William Cecil Burtner, one of the best known young men of Harrisonburg on Monday afternoon committed suicide, evidently during a fit of temporary insanity, by shooting himself through the heart, his death occurring almost instantly at his home on Broad street. He had recently been ill of fever.

The American Spirit of Liberty and Freedom.

Every time you buy a Liberty Bond, you put a newer and higher courage in the hearts of all fighting boys but especially of those boys whose parents came here so that their sons might be free to fight for Liberty.

Every penny you lend our Government in your investment of Liberty Bonds is used to give us a better Army and Navy.

There isn't a soul living who owns bonds of the first, second or third Liberty Loans who isn't proud of what he has helped to do for our Country. Now it is the Fourth Liberty Loan-bigger than was ever known before, and backed by greater resources than any investment you ever made.

Don't wait for the final "spurt," don't wait for the fire of enthusiasm; don't wait for speeches and parades and bands.

Buy your Liberty Bonds this week, for you know you are going to buy them. You are not sacrificing a penny; you are not giving a cent. You are lending your money to the Government; you get good interest for it; you get your money back.

We cannot win without money, and therefore these loans are vital, and our people should rally in all their strength and subscribe---and--over-subscribe---the Fourth Liberty Loan. Subscribe to-day without fail.

The Alexandria National Bank has shown its faith in the Fourth Liberty Loan by subscribing for itself one hundred thousand dollars---$100,000---of the Fourth Liberty Loan Bonds. This is in addition to over sixty thousand dollars subscribed by its friends and patrons through the Alexandria National Bank to the Fourth Liberty Loan Bonds.

Make your arrangements with this Bank for purchasing your Bonds.

BOCHES ABUSE TRUST

Huns Placed at Work on Farms, Attack Women and Young Girls

London, Oct. 17.—German prisoners of war in England enjoy treatment in marked contrast to that of British prisoners in Hunland.

That they are happy in their enforced surroundings is apparent in the joyous, jaunty air with which they go about their work. But the freedom which they are allowed is not altogether pleasing to British citizens. Moreover, Hun character will come the surface and tales of ill-treatment of women and children by these prisoners of war are many.

Agricultural camps have been established at various points in England and more than 25,000 German prisoners are quartered in these camps and employed in agriculture.

Hundreds of them are living among the farmers, who assume personal responsibility for the prisoners they board. Not more than three are boarded by any one farmer, and these are removed in case there is objection in the neighborhood. Few Prussians are thus farmed out.

At Dunmow a German working unguarded in a field leaped over a hedge and forced the driver of a baker's cart to sell loaves to him.

Near Swindon four Huns were arrested for an assault on a girl of 16.

In Cheshire, where nearly a thousand are at work, nearly 200 are taken out daily by 30 guards, armed with canes, who distribute them among 96 farms within three miles of the camp as a postman distributes the mail. They are collected and returned to camp in the evening.

Regulations for these prisoners require that they be given three meals daily of as liberal proportions as given ordinary farm labor. When boarded by the farmers they are permitted to go to church if accompanied by their employers.

Residents of one Surrey community were angered by the sight of a German prisoner in a neat dark blue uniform riding into a village on horseback with a debonair air while behind him on foot trailed a Tommy detailed to guard him, hot and perspiring from the pace set by his mounted prisoner.

LENS MINES RUINED

Shafts are Found Flooded, Operating Plants Destroyed, and 10,000 Houses in Town Leveled.

Paris, Oct. 17.—It will be from 18 months to two years before it will become possible to take out any coal from the mines in the Lens region, which the Germans damaged to the best of their ability before they retired from the city, an inspection of the mining properties has revealed. It is estimated that it will take five years to restore the normal production of the pits.

The inspection was made by Albert Lebrun, minister of blockade, and Louis Loucheur, minister of munitions, with M. Perier and M. Basly, chairman and vice chairman respectively, of the committee on mines of the Chamber of Deputies. They visited Lens itself and the adjoining mining towns of Sallumines and Lievin.

The found the mines flooded in these localities and although every possible measure is under way to restore the operating plants by the State, it will be two years, it is estimated, before the mines can be cleared of water. The mining plants have been systematically destroyed, the destructive process having been carried to the most extreme limits.

At Courrieres, northeast of Lens, the Germans had blown up the mines before retiring. Of the 10,000 houses in Lens, the visitors found not one left standing, the town having been completely razed.
